Özgür Masur presented his Fall 2021 collection at Fashion Week Istanbul. The collection is a bold and artistic expression of the period we are in, embodied with fine details. The designer depicts the crowded longing of a lonely society, with the voice of colors, underlining self-customization and differentiation with the sound of colors. The color palette first strengthened with red and violet hues while refreshed with a bold green and framed with the unity of ecru and black is a masterful combination of colors.

Özgür Masur, once again designed the accessories to fill the stage in this collection, skillfully presenting the elegance of the details that speak of the brand's DNA. With the drape details that can be described as origami, the designer with his artistic craftsmanship has once again engraved his signature into fashion.

Turkish designer's Fall 2021 collection exhibits the story of iconization, differentiation and stardom, with the feminine and powerful woman we are now familiar with, with the artistic translation to the times.
