

MUSEUM OF FINE CLOTHING

Museum of Fine Clothing, founded by Eda Güngör, presented its Fall 2021 collection on Friday, April 16, 2021, as part of Fashion Week Istanbul, which took place on digital platforms.

This season's Museum of Fine Clothing collection by Eda Güngör reveals the story of our captivity from the designer's unique romantic focus.

Once the lines move back and forth in time, they symbolize both hopes and sorrow. While the designer's confinement is epitomized by a cage, we can see how this detail is exclusively handcrafted in his designs, contrasting the mattress with vertical fabric strips and meticulously prepared.

Feathers reflect a bird's liberation, while fuzzy dresses make reference to a bygone era.

The collection's dark colors express intensity and sharpness, while the light colors show our pure emotions and fragility. In these comparisons, designer Eda Güngör really tells the tale of the harmony we face in life.
